Dayton Feels Peace

Labor Outbreak Due Monday

DAYTON, July 31—No trouble was expected today at the local Univis Lens Co., strikebound for 87 days, but it was only because the plant was closed for the weekend.

City and state authorities were alerted for further trouble Monday after the Montgomery County CIO council voted last night to hold a mass demonstration at the plant gates Monday morning.

The council's action was in direct defiance of Gov. Thomas J. Herbert's plea for peace yesterday afternoon.

Herbert held two separate meetings with union and company representatives late yesterday and worked out a peace plan based on the condition that there would be no violence at the strife-torn company Monday.

The governor dismissed the CIO United Electrical Workers representatives when they refused to guarantee there would be no mass demonstration when the plant reopened.

THE UNION delegates sought to involve Herbert as a mediator in their basic demands for the rehiring of all employees and for a second bargaining election to be held within 60 days.

The company has offered to rehire all workers, excepting 11 union leaders they claim "have committed flagrant violations of the law" since the plant reopened last Monday. The company claims the union should abide by the results of a decertification election held last week under the auspices of the NLRB.

The UEW lost that election 276 to 392, but its representatives claimed at yesterday's conference that the company used promises, threats and coercion to obtain the result.

A grim-faced and angry governor told the union men: "I didn't come down here as a mediator. My first consideration is peace for the people of Ohio, and we'll have that peace, whatever it takes."

Repeatedly, during the tense hour and a half conference, the governor asked the union for flat commitment that there would be no demonstration Monday.

The union hedged.

Farm Widow, Lover Guilty

HAMILTON, July 31—Mrs. Marie Conn Abbott and her lover, Cyril Gordon faced long prison terms today for the mattock slaying of the woman's well-to-do Butler County farmer husband, Morris Abbott.

A Hamilton jury last night found the 40-year-old widow guilty of second degree murder, and judged her 27-year-old companion guilty of murder in the first degree.

The jury recommended mercy in Gordon's case, making a life sentence mandatory.

Diplomats Ponder Reason For Red Chief's Absence

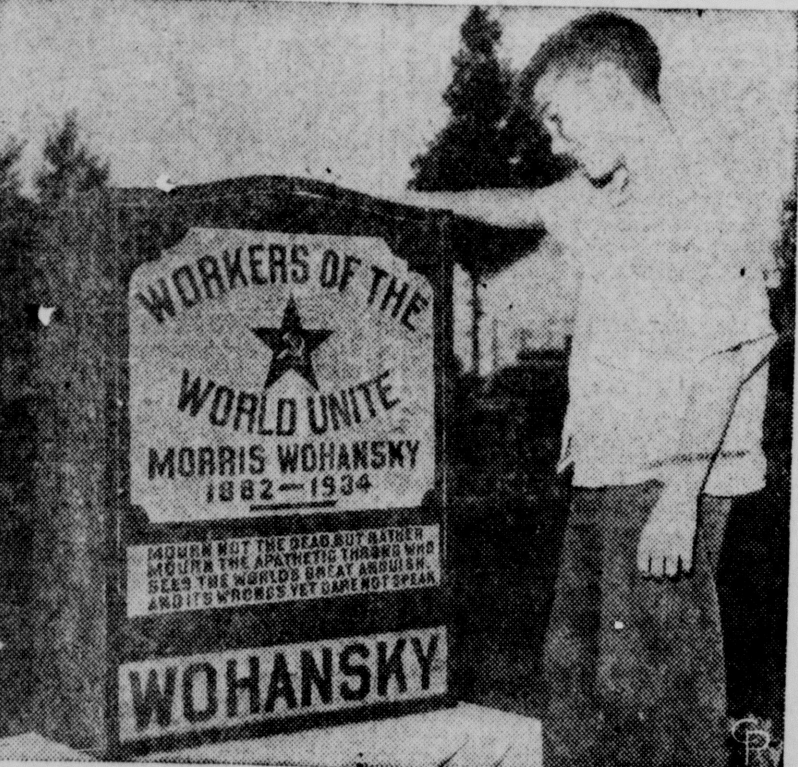

WASHINGTON, July 31—Top level officials in Washington puzzled today over the sudden absence from Moscow of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov at a time ambassadors of the Western powers seek him.

Unofficial speculation was a popular pastime in officials' private offices and in the chambers of embassies and legations.

Some believed that Molotov had decided to step quietly out of reach as a silent rebuke to the Western Powers for taking two weeks to answer the last Russian note. This note proposed that a four-power conference be held on the entire German problem.

Others believed that the leaks from London and Paris on the intentions of the Western Powers so fully informed Molotov of what was coming that he was in no hurry to obtain official information.

Also it was thought possible that the Western Powers would not hold up their consolidation of Western Germany's economy while negotiations are going on.

Congress Told Prices Due To Continue High This Year

WASHINGTON, July 31—Congress faced the prospect today that prices will continue high for the remainder of the year, regardless of what is done at the special session.

Marriner Eccles, vice-chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, and one of the nation's foremost financial authorities, warned that this was what Congress and the nation could expect until the end of the year, at least.

Eccles' warning was presented to the Senate banking and currency committee, which is wrestling with President Truman's anti-inflation program.

The former board chairman, whom the President failed to reappoint several months ago, painted a somber picture of the future when he stated that "inflation could be continued indefinitely due to the expanding military and foreign aid programs."

HERE IS the way the situation shaped up on Capitol Hill as both sides jockeyed for favorable positions in the 1948 elections:

1. Republican leaders planned to adjourn the special session between Aug. 7 and 14.

2. They do not plan to give the President authority to impose price controls or rationing.

3. President Truman's request for a $65 million loan for construction of a United Nations headquarters in New York is slated for approval.

4. No civil rights legislation is in the offing. The present intention is to let the Southerners filibuster a little longer, make an attempt to limit debate by invoking cloture, and when this fails, drop the matter.

5. GOP leaders favor—and Congress may enact—legislation giving the Federal Reserve Board additional authority to control bank and consumer credit and perhaps boost gold reserve requirements back of federal reserve notes and bank deposits.

6. MEMBERS are urging—and the Republican leadership may agree—enactment of an appropriation bill paying them mileage at the rate of 20 cents a mile for travelling to and from Washington for the special session.

Congress recessed last month instead of adjourning sine die and the members are therefore not automatically entitled to mileage pay.

Sen. Tobey, (R) N. H., chairman of the Senate banking and currency committee, expressed hope that his group would be able to report out bank credit legislation by Aug. 9. Paul Porter, the President's representative, was to testify before the committee Monday.

NO SPIK DA ENGLISH

Danube Talks Taking On Strong Pro-Soviet Tinge

BELGRADE, July 31—The Danubian conference assumed a strong pro-Soviet tinge today following the Eastern bloc's blanket rejection of English as an official language.

The U. S., Britain and France—only Western powers at the Belgrade meetings opened yesterday—suffered a stunning setback when the Soviet satellites voted against the use of English, 7-3.

The solid Eastern vote foreshadowed a down-the-line adherence to the Kremlin's stand on Danube river navigation and any Allied issues which may come before the conferees.

Of equal importance, was the fact that Yugoslavia not only voted with the Russian bloc, but the Yugoslav delegate, Ales Bebler, voiced the strongest support of the Soviet position.

Said Bebler:

"IN DISCUSSING the Danubian question, the U. S. and the USSR cannot be compared. The USSR is a Danubian power while the United States is not even a European power."

Thus, after almost four hours of discussion last night, the delegates voted for Russian and French as the official languages. However, English was accepted as a working language. Thus all (Continued on Page Two)

Soviets Block West Berliners' Bank Accounts

BERLIN, July 31—Soviet authorities today blocked all bank accounts of German firms located in Berlin's three western sectors.

The order, which applies to all banks in the Soviet sector, makes it impossible for Western zone firms to obtain Soviet "eastern marks" for payroll purposes.

Most Berlin firms pay salaries 75 percent in Russian and 25 percent in Western marks.

The move was interpreted as a further step in the Soviet drive to obtain control of Western Berlin's industry.

In another phase of the same drive, the Soviet-controlled "Commercial Society for Greater Berlin" announced that it is prepared to "organize the production and sale of products of Western Berlin's industry."

The appeal apparently was timed to coincide with the Soviet "come and get it" food plan, scheduled to get under way tomorrow.

Baltimore Probes Girl Strangler

BALTIMORE, July 31—A 25-year-old Baltimore man was held under guard in a hospital today on charges that he strangled his fiancée last night and then drove around with her body in his car for five hours.

Ohio Stater Nabs First Olympic Medal For U.S.

LONDON, July 31—Harrison Dillard of the United States won the Olympic 100-meter crown today and equalled the Olympiad record of 10:3 seconds.

LONDON, July 31—Bruce Harlan of Ohio State gave the United States its first gold medal of the 1948 Olympiad today by leading the Americans to a clean sweep of the men's springboard diving.

Miller Anderson, a fellow Ohio Stater, finished second in the competition at the Wembley pool and Sammy Lee of Los Angeles took third place.

The sweep gave the United States 19 points for a huge lead in the water events—with only this event completed.

Meanwhile, the United States qualified one-two-three in the Olympic running broadjump trials and American speedsters captured both semi-final heats of the 100-meter dash.

The finals of both events are scheduled for this afternoon amid excellent prospects that America will win its first gold medals of the 14th Olympiad.

After kangaroo-legged Willie Steele topped the world's best in the running jump trial with 25 feet 6 1/2 inches, Harrison Dillard cannonballed to the tape to take the first 100 meter semifinal.

DILLARD, the Baldwin-Wallace hurdler who unaccountably failed to make the team in his favorite event but qualified in the short sprint, captured the heat in 10.5 seconds. One hundred meter distance is about a foot less than 110 yards.

WASHINGTON, July 31—William Remington, suspended Commerce department official, today flatly denied a blonde ex-spy's charge that he gave her war-secret data to pass on to Russia.

In a news conference he said he would go to Capitol Hill today and deny before the Senate Ferguson investigating committee that he ever has been a card-carrying Communist.

He said he also will deny that he supplied "secret" material to Miss Elizabeth Bentley; self-confessed former Communist agent.

Milk Price Hike Is Expected Here

Circleville housewives soon may be forced to revise upward their daily budget about a penny if anticipated milk market boosts are proved accurate.

The price of $5.30 per hundred-weight of fluid milk in Pickaway County during the greater portion of July was expected to rise 10 or 20 cents during the first part of August by local milk dealers.

This means, according to milk dealers here, that the price per quart of milk on the retail market will increase about a penny.

Milk is currently selling in Circleville retail stores at 19 cents per quart pasteurized and 20 cents homogenized.

COUNTY'S 2ND WATER DEATH

Innertube Upsets; Girl, 9, Drowns While Swimming

Pickaway County recorded its second drowning of the year with the death Friday afternoon of Evelyn M. Leist, 9, of Era, after an innertube in which she was swimming overturned in Deer Creek near her home.

Witnesses said the youngster was playing in the water with six companions and had paddled into deep water to join a companion, Mary Ann

Porter of Era, when the mishap occurred.

David Fair, a playmate, said none of his friends could swim very well, but "Evelyn couldn't swim at all."

The youth said he saw the innertube tip over and watched the Leist girl go under the water. He said the Porter girl got excited and her inner tube overturned, too.

HOWEVER, she grasped the tube and swam to shore. Young Fair said he swam out to where his friend had gone under but could not find her.

Witnesses said the drowning occurred about 1:30 p. m. The body was recovered two hours later in about seven-foot of water by Ralph Wilson of Bucyrus.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Vern L. Pontious supplied the rescue workers with grappling hooks to drag the creek bottom. The body was found within a few feet of where it went under the water.

Pickaway County Coroner Dr. Lloyd Jones returned a ruling of accidental death by drowning following his investigation.

The victim is survived by her mother, Geneva, and stepfather, Ray Follirod; one brother, Stanley Leist; and a half-sister, Judy Follirod.

The body was to be taken to the Follirod residence Saturday with services to be conducted at 2 p. m. Sunday in the E. T. Snyder funeral home in Mt. Sterling.

The Rev. George Scott of Columbus will officiate and burial will be in Mt. Sterling cemetery.

REMINGTON told his news conference that he gave Miss Bentley—whom he knew as "Helen Johnson"—some data, but denied that it was either "secret" or "confidential." He said:

"This is not true. I gave her information which was available to any reporter."

He said the late Jacob Golos—whom Miss Bentley named as the man who brought her into the spy network when she fell in love with him—introduced him to "Miss Johnson" and said she was "a reporter and researcher."

The slim, sandy-haired, 30-year-old Remington told reporters that he was "an extremely glib young man" when he met the blonde spy in 1942.

But he declared that she "undoubtedly was confused" when she named him as a Communist member. He said he never had made any contributions to the Communist Party—which Miss Bentley said she collected—although he did make donations to "the Joint Anti-Nazi Committee in 1942 and 1943."

"At that time there never had been any intimation that the organization was a Communist Front. I felt it was all right."

In his news conference Remington disclosed that he was able to get into the Navy's carefully - picked intelligence branch in 1944. He became a lieutenant in the language section.

MISS BENTLEY had named the Navy and the FBI as the two agencies in which she was not able to find "leaks." She indicated, however, that she had been instructed to break off the contact with Remington when it was learned that he was to enter the Navy.

Publicly airing her story for the first time before the Ferguson committee, the blonde ex-spy who is credited with helping the FBI get evidence which brought grand jury indictments of William Z. Foster and 11 other top U. S. Communists declared that her section of the network even reached into the White House executive offices.

She did not name the White House source, who she said was not a Communist, but who passed along information that the U. S. had "cracked the Russian code" in 1944. The Russians she served were "greatly excited" about this news, she said.

Chairman Ferguson, (R) Mich., emphasized that his committee's inquiry was not aimed at establishing the guilt or innocence of those charged with espionage, but at how Remington could have got his commerce export committee job last February while he was being investigated by the FBI and by a New York grand jury.

Remington's committee dealt with controlling the export of scarce goods to iron curtain countries and getting in return commodities needed in the nation's own defense program.

Miss Bentley described her job in the spy ring as that of "courier." She came to Washington from New York at two-week intervals, made contacts and returned with material to New York.

There were two divisions of material. "Political" material, she said, went to former U. S. Communist Chief Earl Browder. "Military" information went "straight on through" to the Russians.

Until the death of Golos in 1944, Miss Bentley said, she turned the secrets over to him. Later she turned them over to a Russian whom she knew only as "Bill."

Hike In Damage Said 'Normal'

HARRISBURG, —State Fire Marshall William F. Taeger reported that incendiary fires continued a postwar climb throughout 1947 when 154 persons were arrested for arson.

Despite an increase of 19 arrests over the 1946 total, Taeger described the year as "normal." He said the increase was "slight" in the actual number of fires and was due principally to the increase in juvenile delinquency.

Taeger said the damage caused by "fire-bugs" and arsonists ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Crossbow Seen Returning As Hunting Weapon

MUNICH, —You want to go boar-hunting in Germany today? Well, just grab your crossbow and roam the woods.

"It is all very easy." That's the comment of Ferdinand Garissen, a Munich gunsmith, who has revived medieval-type hunting in modern Germany. The Allied Military Governments told the Germans that hunting with rifles was "verboten."

Garissen says: "You can still hit and kill a buck at 60 yards with a modern crossbow." The German gunsmith is considered the only authority on crossbows in Western Germany and her neighboring countries.

He is an expert marksman, who repeatedly has held the German crossbow shooting championship. The weapon of the fabulous Wilhelm Tell has been Garissen's specialty for 15 years.

Garissen's new shop in Munich is buzzing with activity. Thirty young gunsmiths are turning out crossbow models by the dozens.

Complete with dioptrical sight, the bow's sole accessory is a long stick to cock its steel wire. The wire has a recoil power of 2600 pounds. The missiles are wooden quarrels with steel tips.

The 38-year-old crossbow ace also intends to export his latest model to other countries as soon as the U. S. Military government grants him a export license.

The patrolmen said a license check revealed the automobile is owned by Herbert Hamilton of McArthur but that no one was around the car when they arrived at the scene about 2:30 a. m. Saturday.

Circleville Railway Express Agency has moved into Union Railway Station at 730 South Court street.

The Second National Bank, which owns the building vacated Friday night, said there are no immediate plans in store to fill the vacancy.

Patton was Lloyd LaBeach, the American-trained sprinter who comprises Panama's Olympic team, who registered 10.5.

Third place was won by McDonald Bailey, the Trinidad Negro who runs for England.

THE SUCCESS of the American trio in the running broad jump followed the pattern established an hour earlier when the three U. S. hammer throwers qualified for the run off.

In addition to Bob Bennett, the American qualifiers in the hammer were Henry Dreyer of New York, the only veteran of the 1936 Olympic squad on the present team, and Sam Felton of Harvard.

After watching Nemeth of Hungary and Ericsson of Sweden easily surpass their best qualifying tosses, Felton said: "Any one of us will be lucky to break into the first three."

The qualifying distance was set at 49 meters (160 feet, 9-1/4 inches), nearly 25 feet under the Olympic record.

With the best of three throws to count, Bennett made a toss of 167 feet, 8 5/16 inches. The veteran Dreyer threw the ball and chain 165 feet 3 1/16, and Felton registered 161 5/16.

Nemeth, with a lazy toss, qualified with a mark of 177 feet 2-1/2 inches. Ericsson with an equally simply effort threw the weight 171 feet.

Yesterday, America's three high jumpers delivered debacle. Verne McGrew of Rice, despite his previous effort of six feet eight inches, above the record, couldn't get off the ground all day. This left George Stanich of UCLA and Dwight Eddleman of the University of Illinois tied for third place at six feet four and 3/4 inches.

The Americans congratulated Australia's J. L. Winter, the surprise winner, but pointedly ignored Norway's B. Paulsen in second place, which they felt they at least should have shared.

Local Driver Is Fined $100

Robert Strawser of Circleville was fined $100 and costs in mayor's court Friday night for drunken driving.

State Highway Patrolman C. E. Wells, arresting officer, told Mayor Thurman I. Miller the man had been driving his car while drunk on U. S. Route 23 north of Circleville.

Master Yo-Yoer Says Toy Once Deadly Weapon

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., —When Bert Santiago Bransuela, world champion yo-yoer, hits town the kids drag out the swinging tops again and go to work.

Bransuela is the only man who can swing a living out of a yo-yo and he does very well with it. He first copped the world championship in 1937 and now does 300 tricks, although he says there are only eight basic tricks in the yo-yo world.

Yo-yo, as Bransuela explains it, means "go and return" in his native Philippine language.

The swarthy champion was born in Manila and served through all of the Pacific campaign during which he saw all of his native land liberated.

Bransuela said his ancestors used the yo-yo in much the same way as the Australian aborigines used the boomerang.

To see children playing with a yo-yo, one would never suspect the innocent toy was the descendant of an effective weapon that Filipinos used 300 years ago.

Bransuela came to this country in 1929. He was inducted into the army in Seminole, Okla., but after the war he returned and began touring the country as king of the yo-yo manipulators.

Neglect Claimed In Divorce Suit

Accused of gross neglect, Foster H. Spangler has been named defendant in a divorce suit filed by his wife, Anne L. Spangler, in Pickaway County common pleas court.

Her petition claims they were married April 27, 1946, in Circleville and that they are the parents of an 18-month-old son.

Mrs. Spangler's papers stated the defendant failed to support her or the child.

She is asking the court for custody of the child and financial support.

Krupp Owner Said Plunderer

NUERNBERG, July 31 — Six leading German industrialists — including the owner of the vast Krupp munitions works — were found guilty of plunder today by a U. S. war crimes court.

Four other Krupp executives tried at Nuernberg were acquitted of the plunder charge.

In all, 12 Krupp officials were on trial. Two of them — Hans Kupke and Heinrich Lemmann — had not been charged with plundering property.

Besides Bebler, who is deputy foreign minister, the Eastern nations are represented by Czechoslovakia's Foreign Minister Vladimir Clementis; Romanian foreign minister—and number one Communist—Ana Pauker; Bulgaria's deputy foreign minister, Eugeni Kamenov, and Hungary's foreign minister, Eric Molnar.

Heading this first-string array is Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, and A. K. Baranowski of the Soviet Ukraine, who has been given a separate vote.

The U. S. delegation, headed by the ambassador to Belgrade, Cavendish Cannon is believed anxious to restore the 1,800-mile Danube water route to free and unrestricted navigation.

The Rev. Sam C. Elsea of Circleville and the Rev. Samuel Root of Carroll will officiate for funeral services Sunday for Sgt. Earl Reichelderfer of Tarlton.

He died May 25, 1944, in Italy while serving with the 168th Infantry, United States Army.

Born in Saltcreek Township in 1921, he was a son of Earl and Marie Hampshire Reichelderfer. A brother, Richard Reichelderfer, of the home, also survives.

The body was removed to the home of the parents after arriving in Circleville Friday on the Norfolk and Western Railway. Friends may call in the home.

Funeral services will be at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the home in Tarlton. Burial will be made in Tarlton cemetery by Deffenbaugh funeral home.

Dayton Gets Labor Peace

New York and Former State Senator K. M. Kirkendall, business agent for the Dayton local, held they could not be responsible for the spontaneous actions of "thousands of other trade unionists" in Dayton.

Herbert broke in with: "Let's cut out that 'spontaneous' bunk. You know those men (demonstrators) report under encouragement and orders from you." The governor continued:

"This is one fight you won't win with force. If you continue to use force, the responsibility will be yours. You can't fight the people and the state of Ohio."

Kirkendall's only answer was: "We will neither encourage nor discourage a demonstration. With that, Herbert broke off the conference. He called in management representatives a few minutes later.

In the second session, Company President M. H. Stanley at first flatly refused to meet with union representatives. He claimed the union had sacrificed its rights by violating an injunction limiting pickets to six and by using violence and that the company could go no further in negotiations.

However, the governor made his feelings clear when he said in weighted tones:

"I strongly urge that you meet just once more on Monday with the union representatives."

War-Secret Data Given Reds, Claim

turned over a synthetic rubber formula and figures on U. S. aircraft production.

REMINGTON told his news conference that he gave Miss Bentley—whom he knew as "Helen Johnson"—some data, but denied that it was either "secret" or "confidential." He said:

"This is not true. I gave her information which was available to any reporter."

He said the late Jacob Golos—whom Miss Bentley named as the man who brought her into the spy network when she fell in love with him—introduced him to "Miss Johnson" and said she was "a reporter and researcher."

The slim, sandy-haired, 30-year-old Remington told reporters that he was "an extremely glib young man" when he met the blonde spy in 1942.

But he declared that she "undoubtedly was confused" when she named him as a Communist member. He said he never had made any contributions to the Communist Party—which Miss Bentley said she collected—although he did make donations to the "Joint Anti-Nazi Committee in 1942 and 1943."

"At that time there never had been any intimation that the organization was a Communist Front. I felt it was all right."

In his news conference Remington disclosed that he was able to get into the Navy's carefully picked intelligence branch in 1944. He became a lieutenant in the language section.

MISS BENTLEY had named the Navy and the FBI as the two agencies in which she was not able to find "leaks." She indicated, however, that she had been instructed to break off the contact with Remington when it was learned that he was to enter the Navy.

Publicly airing her story for the first time before the Ferguson committee, the blonde ex-spy who is credited with helping the FBI get evidence which brought grand jury indictments of William Z. Foster and 11 other top U. S. Communists declared that her section of the network even reached into the White House executive offices.

She did not name the White House source, who she said was not a Communist, but who passed along information that the U. S. had "cracked the Russian code" in 1944. The Russians she served were "greatly excited" about this news, she said.

Chairman Ferguson, (R) Mich., emphasized that his committee's inquiry was not aimed at establishing the guilt or innocence of those charged with espionage, but at how Remington could have got his commerce export committee job last February while he was being investigated by the FBI and by a New York grand jury.

Remington's committee dealt with controlling the export of scarce goods to iron curtain countries and getting in return commodities needed in the nation's own defense program.

Miss Bentley described her job in the spy ring as that of "courier." She came to Washington from New York at two-week intervals, made contacts and returned with material to New York.

There were two divisions of material. "Political" material, she said, went to former U. S. Communist Chief Earl Browder. "Military" information went "straight on through" to the Russians.

Until the death of Golos in 1944, Miss Bentley said, she turned the secrets over to him. Later she turned them over to a Russian whom she knew only as "Bill."

Hike In Damage Said 'Normal'

HARRISBURG, —State Fire Marshall William F. Taeger reported that incendiary fires continued a postwar climb throughout 1947 when 154 persons were arrested for arson.

Despite an increase of 19 arrests over the 1946 total, Taeger described the year as "normal." He said the increase was "slight" in the actual number of fires and was due principally to the increase in juvenile delinquency.

Taeger said the damage caused by "fire-bugs" and arsonists ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A ten, five, or a one-dollar bill is about the most slippery thing in the world. Roll those bills into U. S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Crossbow Seen Returning As Hunting Weapon

MUNICH. —You want to go boar-hunting in Germany today? Well, just grab your crossbow and roam the woods.

"It is all very easy," That's the comment of Ferdinand Garissen, a Munich gunsmith, who has revived medieval-type hunting in modern Germany. The Allied Military Government told the Germans that hunting with rifles was "verboten."

Garissen says: "You can still hit and kill a buck at 60 yards with a modern crossbow." The German gunsmith is considered the only authority on crossbows in Western Germany and her neighboring countries.

He is an expert marksman, who repeatedly has held the German crossbow shooting championship. The weapon of the fabulous Wilhelm Tell has been Garissen's specialty for 15 years.

Garissen's new shop in Munich is buzzing with activity. Thirty young gunsmiths are turning out crossbow models by the dozens.

Complete with dioptrical sight, the bow's sole accessory is a long stick to cock its steel wire. The wire has a recoil power of 2600 pounds. The missiles are wooden quarrels with steel tips.

The 38-year-old crossbow ace also intends to export his latest model to other countries as soon as the U. S. Military government grants him an export license.

Patrol Seeking Owner Of Car

State Highway Patrolmen Clyde E. Wells and Charles Watters are investigating an accident four miles north of South Bloomfield on Route 23 by attempting to identify the driver of the car.

The patrolmen said a license check revealed the automobile is owned by Herbert Hamilton of McArthur but that no one was around the car when they arrived at the scene about 2:30 a. m. Saturday.

Officers said the car was a 1947 coupe which apparently had gone out of control, bounded through a fence and overturned. A bloody hand print on the car hood pointed to a possible injury.

Pressman Quells Swarm Of Bees

ITHACA, N. Y.—When bees swarmed at Ithaca's busiest corner, it took a newspaperman to corral them in a hive. Police roped off the street when an estimated 30,000 bees swarmed on an awning on a downtown department store.

It was "the day off" for Edwin E. Bergsten, Ithaca Journal pressman, but he responded to an SOS call. He arrived with a spare hive, headgear, and gloves and scooped up the queen bee. The other bees followed.

Ray Odaffer, 16, of Circleville, was fined $25 with costs suspended when he appeared Saturday in Pickaway County juvenile court for failing to stop after an accident and reckless driving.

The youth was arrested Friday by Deputy Sheriff Vern L. Pontious. The deputy said Odaffer failed to stop after side-swiping another car driven by James Bennett, 42, of Lucasville Route 3.

Pontious said the accident occurred near Gold Cliff park on Route 23 when Odaffer reportedly crossed the center line of traffic and careened into the oncoming southbound vehicle.

After the crash, Pontious said Bennett lost control of his automobile, bolted across the highway and crashed through a fence before coming to a stop in a field. Neither of the drivers was injured, Pontious reported.

New Cleric To Preach At Vespers

The Rev. Charles Hupp, who is to be installed pastor of the Kingston Presbyterian church during services there Sunday afternoon, will deliver the sermon at vespers services in Ted Lewis park in the evening.

The third in a series of eight special Kiwanis-sponsored services of that kind in the park begins at 8 p. m.

The Rev. Mr. Hupp is substituting in the absence of the Rev. Harley Bennett, pastor of Church of Christ in Christian Union.

The Circleville Community band will present a half hour period of musical selections prior to the worship services. They also will accompany congregational singing.

Interchurch Club Being Backed By All Groups

DURHAM, N. C. —Meeting at Duke university once amonth, the Phillips Brooks Club has a membership made up of clergymen of all faiths residing within a 75 mile radius of Durham.

The interdenominational feature, said the Rev. Clarence R. Haden Jr., is evidenced by the fact that the club is named after an Episcopal bishop, the naming having been done by a Baptist, and the club was founded by a Methodist. The 1948 president is Mr. Haden, an Episcopalian.

Special interest of the club is religious education, a particular concern of Mr. Haden who is chairman of an organization of Christian education leaders in 15 Southern dioceses, and member of the Board of Managers of Gaudet School, New Orleans.

Rev. Mr. Wolford's first sermon in Zanesville will be delivered Sunday.

First Tour To Mission Due Monday

A large group of vacationists from all parts of the eastern United States will depart from Chicago Monday on the first of this Summer's inaugural California Mission Tours. The tour members will make their round-trip journey to the Pacific Coast by special, all-pullman, air-conditioned train, returning to Chicago Aug. 14.

The second of the 1948 California Mission Tours will take place from Aug. 30 through Sept. 11. All travel arrangements for both journeys are being handled by American Express-Catholic Travel League.

The official itinerary for the two California Mission tours, each under the leadership of specially-appointed spiritual directors from major cities, is identical. The California Missions to be visited include world famed San Juan Capistrano, Santa Barbara, San Gabriel and San Francisco de Asis ("Mission Dolores"). Tour members will also view the oldest of all missions in the United States, San Miguel, located at Santa Fe, New Mexico.

The members will also visit Los Angeles, Hollywood and Beverly Hills, San Francisco, Grand Canyon, Denver, Muir Woods, Estes Park and Rocky Mountain National Park.

The all-inclusive rates which have been set up for the inaugural California Mission Tours cover every item of expense, including railroad transportation from home city to the West Coast and return; all meals from time of departure from Chicago until return to that city; hotel accommodations, sightseeing, admission fees, transfers of members and baggage, and numerous additional features and services.

Army Hospital Provides Flips With New Church

MANILA, P. I.—Erection of a building for a theological seminary here—a part of the overall reconstruction plan now under way—seemed impossible because no contractor would undertake the job because of labor shortage.

J. Van Wie Bergamini, Mission architect, arranged to bring down from missions in the mountain province, 40 Igorots. Though inexperienced, Bergamini said, "They have done a fairly good job for a reasonable cost."

The seminary buildings were reconstructed from a number of Army hospitals shipped to various mission fields where buildings had been destroyed in the war. "The hospital unit makes a swell seminary," Bergamini said.

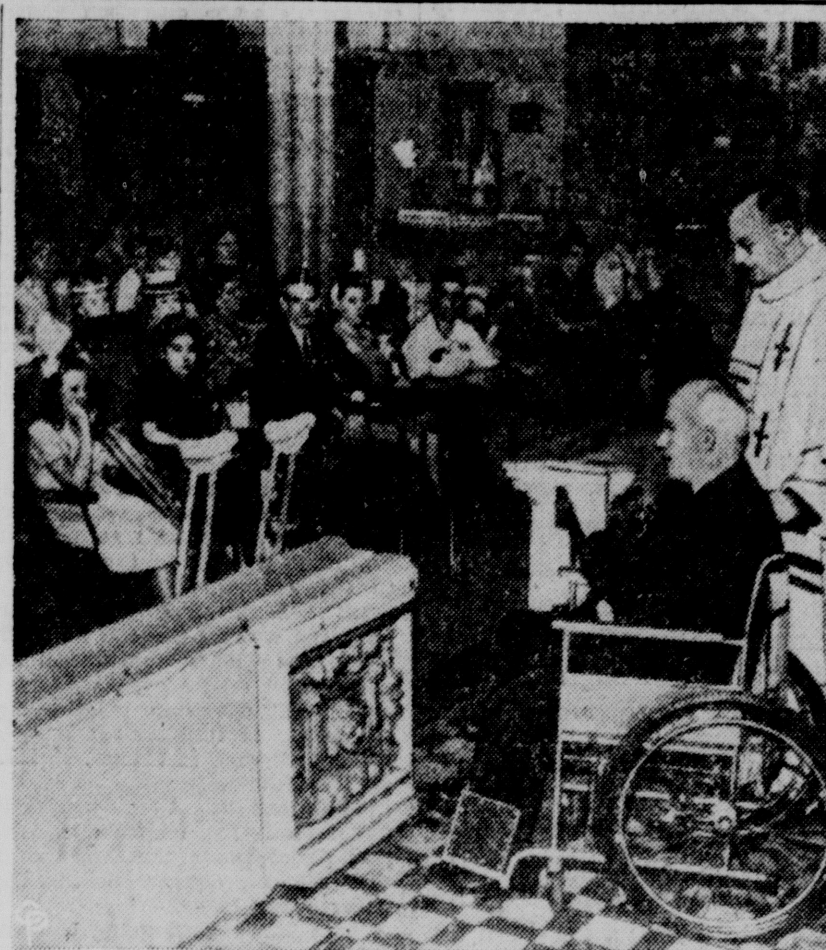

Lutherans Set Request Series

For the past several years, the month of August has been designated as request month in Trinity Lutheran church. Special requested texts, sermons and subjects chosen by the members of the congregation are followed in the services.

First of this request series will be conducted Sunday. The Rev. G. L. Troutman, pastor, has selected for the 10:15 a. m. service the subject "The Lutheran Common Liturgical Service." An explanation and study of the various parts of the morning liturgy will be made.

Youth In China Found As Eager For Education

NEW YORK.—Students at Episcopal-Church—supported Hua Chung university in Wuchang, China, are showing increasing interest in professional training, according to President Francis C. M. Wei, well-known in the United States through his several visits and speaking tours in this country.

Dr. Wei said that the most popular subjects among the students this year are economics, chemistry, English and education.

Dr. Wei reported also greatly overcrowded living quarters at the University, and added that during the war nearly eighty percent of the college's books and seventy percent of its scientific equipment were destroyed.

"It will be years before we shall be able to replace these losses," he said.

Hua Chung students are serving the city of Wuchang constructively. Among the services listed by Dr. Wei are teaching in the mass education programs; acting as social workers in the YMCA; running a Sunday School for the faculty and neighborhood children. Economics majors, he said, are helping the provincial government in making social and economic surveys.

Baruch, the Scribe

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Jeremiah 32:6-15; 36-37; 43:5-6.

By Alfred J. Buescher

The word of the Lord came to Jeremiah the prophet, in prison, telling him to buy a piece of land from his uncle's son; Jeremiah did so and counted out the money, Baruch being witness.

The Lord told Jeremiah to take a roll and write thereon all the words He had spoken to him, so Jeremiah called Baruch, son of Meriah, and Baruch wrote what Jeremiah told him.

Jeremiah told Baruch he was a prisoner and could not go into the temple, so he—Baruch—must go and read all he had written to the priests and the people, that they might repent their sins.

The people tore the word of the Lord that Baruch read, and the roll was taken to King Jerolaim, but he, having a fire before him, burned the roll. MEMORY VERSE—Isaiah 40:8.

Mission Clinics Promoting Peace, Nurse Declares

DENVER.—"I feel that doctors and nurses can do more to promote peaceful relations between countries than politicians ever can," a registered nurse from Denver said recently.

In commenting upon the care she received in St. Luke's hospital in Manila, P. I., she said, "As a patient at St. Luke's, I was happy to find such a high standard of nursing, although the conditions doctors and nurses still work under are very trying. The true spirit of nursing is certainly alive there."

Dulles Says Christianity Can Save World's Ills

In a day when the old Christian virtues have been shelved as outmoded and ineffectual in dealing with the urgencies of this world, a note recently sounded by John Foster Dulles is a welcome restorative of faith.

"There is no doubt whatever in my mind," Dulles says, "that moral force is the only force that can accomplish great things in the world."

One of the architects of the United Nations, widely known lawyer and leading churchman, Dulles has no detached, ivory-tower viewpoint of the immediate problems of world politics. His belief that the force of Christianity is the only force capable of solving today's perplexing international problems is the conviction of an eminently practical man.

In an article written for Presbyterian Life magazine, Dulles sees America's world leadership waning, despite great material power and possessions, because those in high office have lost the conscious sense of Christian duty which prevailed in earlier days; and because among the people there is not the former sense of duty to God and fellow man.

The Soviet Union has moved into a "moral vacuum" left by America's neglect of the Christian tenets which made her great. Smart enough to see that the way to win influence in the world is to appear to sponsor the great moral principles, Soviet leaders have professed to champion the very ideals for which America once militantly stood. Proclaiming her advocacy of "the dignity of the individual," "the end of economic exploitation of man by man," and "the end of colonial imperialism," the Soviet has used such slogans as Trojan horses to penetrate our society.

In the United Nations Assembly, what is deemed to be the moral judgment of the world is the only truly powerful force, Dulles says. Every nation there is "afraid of being caught on the wrong side of a moral issue." Conceding that hypocrisy exists and that issues are often deliberately confused, Dulles states that once a clear moral issue emerges, it has a powerful influence upon all governments represented.

The American individual underestimates his capacity for moral influence. But though he is only one of 140,000,000 people, the individual who is clearly the sponsor of a moral principle is more than an individual. His influence is enormous. For the most headstrong political leader, knowing that the moral law is implanted in the hearts of all men and women, is afraid to combat the man who reflects that moral law and sees its relevancy to existing situations.

Episcopal Church OKs Independence To Filipinos

NEW YORK.—The Episcopal church has granted the petition of the Philippine Independent church asking for "the gift of the apostolic succession for our episcopate."

Granting this request does not amount to a union between the two Churches, the Rev. Norman S. Binsted, bishop of the Philippine Islands, explained. "It puts the Episcopal church on record as accepting the Philippine independent church as one which follows the doctrines and order of the Episcopal Church."

The Philippine independent church has a membership of about two million, having originally broken away from the Roman Catholic church during the Spanish regime in the Islands.

BUSINESS WEATHER

THE International Statistical Bureau has just published "Commonsense About the Business Outlook," which says that the trend of business activity for the last half of 1948 should continue upwards in the United States, but with sharp differences from the same period in 1947. Canadian comment on this by Wellington Jeffers in the Toronto Globe and Mail is interesting. Canada, he says, hopes to continue the United States as its chief market and a growing market. "Moreover, we get large waves from any changing trends south of the line."

The bureau believes that election year will not deflate prices, but that 1949 is unpredictable. "Inventories are rising. There is nothing to indicate marked gains in consumption. Real buying power has increased very little and net exports will decline further probably. The personality of a new president might make some changes. There may be a temporary interruption of activity and some pressure on prices. But some price distortions will disappear, and the economy may be better balanced when 1949 begins," Jeffers writes:

"On the whole this does not give Canadians cause to worry about our chief customer. Canada probably has more reason to worry about the unpredictables in foreign events than the United States. Its special concern just now is to get United States dollars, whether for shipments to the United States or for its part in ECA sales to Europe. The report that ECA investigators are now in Europe studying the exchange values of various currencies to report back to Washington does carry the idea that there may be marked changes in this respect."

Jeffers is relieved that "ERP has passed Congress and is accepted by President Truman in a way that is encouraging. So the financial weather, as the second half of 1948 begins, is still promising."

It is always a good idea to see ourselves as others see us, and it is reassuring to observe that Canada sees our next six months favorably.

But the good seaman keeps a weather eye out for squalls, and the experienced householder does not spend his all; he keeps heeled for the rainy day.

A federal report says $3.50 out of every $100 of net personal income is being spent for whisky. Considering the number of persons who don't buy that much of the stuff, somebody must be having a whee of a time.

It may be true that automobile production is too slow, but out on the street it looks as though new planets will be needed to take many more of 'em.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

Rebecca West, reporting on Wallace's press conference in Philadelphia, reaches the sad conclusion that Wallace does not know what he is talking about on the subject of Yugoslavia. I wish to report that Henry Wallace does not know what he is talking about on the subject of China. This is what he says:

"Educated Chinese, who know that Chiang's days are numbered, nevertheless fear that U. S. foreign policy will finally result, after Chiang's fall, in America's controlling what might be called a 'Comisery Sphere,' consisting of Japan, the port cities of China, and Dutch Indonesia. They fear that in the final showdown it would be Japan that would dominate this area rather than the U. S. Others ask what difference it makes whether Chinese slavery is continued directly, through the U. S. and Chiang, or indirectly, through Japan."

"The Chinese students who have been demonstrating against the American policy of rebuilding Japan have been told by the U. S. Ambassador that they must stop or 'prepare to take the consequences.' The Mayor of Shanghai told the students, 'America's policy toward Japan is concentrated on preventing the spread of Communism. Your protest will not benefit China, but the Soviet Union.'"

First question: Who are these educated Chinese? What are their names? Has he spoken to them, communicated with them, or did he get this information from the Cominform?

Second question: Wallace's premise is that should Chiang Kai-Shek fall, the United States would be in charge, to use his treacherous phrase, of a "Comisery Sphere, consisting of Japan, the port cities of China and Dutch-Indonesia." In a word, if Chiang falls, China will be a political vacuum which some power will take over. Why, and this is my question, is Soviet Russia preferable to the United States from any standpoint?

The Chinese Communists have, within the past month, declared themselves part of Stalin's international machinery by a normal Cominform device. All the Stalinist parties were required to declare that Tito was wrong. The Chinese Communists signed on the dotted line, proving their obedient orthodoxy.

Therefore, should the Chinese Communists conquer China, they would act as the Czech and Hungarian Communists acted in their countries—namely as puppets of the Cominform. Why, and this is the third question, does Henry Wallace prefer that? Is it because he also is a puppet, and birds of a feather flock together? Does he believe that world peace will be achieved if all the nations of the Earth are members of the Cominform, presided over by Andrei Zhdanov?

His quotation from the Mayor of Shanghai is accurate and the mayor's views are accurate, but Henry Wallace's mind is so distorted that he really does not understand what he says and picks a quotation to disprove his point. That is all right with Henry because in his argument at Philadelphia with Westbrook Pegler and H. L. Mencken, he established that he was wrong and they were right and that he did not know it.

SYNOPSIS
Eccentric Mrs. Kaine Claude seeks her son, Robert Undermy, who died in Africa during the war, as reported. Her "spirit guides" tell her Undermy is alive, she says. Meantime, Lynn Marchmont, back from war, learns of her son's death. Gordon Claude's death in a London club finds her family, who had been supported by him, in financial distress. A few weeks before his death Gordon unexpectedly married the widow of Robert Undermy. She is young, beautiful, Russian, a complete stranger, and she will inherit all of his wealth. She and her brother David Hunter live lavishly at Furrowbank, the Claude estate. The proud, haughty Jeremy Claude likewise lives in dire circumstances due to brother Gordon's untimely passing. They have lost their only son in the war, and try to face their bereavement bravely.

CHAPTER SIX
JEREMY CLOUDE watched Frances as she sat quite still, thinking over his statement that their situation was worse than bankruptcy. He said to himself, "In another minute I shall have to tell her. She'll know what I am. . . . She'll have to know. Perhaps she won't believe it at first."

Frances Claude sighed and sat up straight in her big armchair. "I see," she said. "Embezzlement. Or is that isn't the right word, that kind of thing. . . . Like young Williams."

"Yes, but this time—you don't understand—I'm responsible. I've used trust funds that were committed to my charge. So far, I've covered my tracks."

"But now it's all going to come out?"

"Unless I can get the necessary money—quickly."

The shame he felt was the worst he had known in his life. How would she take it?

At the moment she was taking it very calmly. But then, he thought, Frances would never make a scene. Never reproach or upbraid.

"It's so stupid," she said, "that I haven't got any money of my own at all. . . ."

He said stiffly, "There is your marriage settlement, but—"

She said absently, "But I suppose that's gone too."

He was silent. Then he said with difficulty, in his dry voice: "I'm sorry, Frances. More sorry than I can say. You made a bad bargain."

She looked up sharply. "You said that before. What do you mean by that?"

Jeremy said stiffly: "When you were good enough to marry me, you had the right to expect—well, integrity—and a life free from sordid anxieties."

She was looking at him with complete astonishment. "Really, Jeremy! What on earth do you think I married you for?"

He smiled slightly. "You have always been a most loyal and devoted wife, my dear. But I can hardly flatter myself that you would have accepted me in—er—different circumstances."

She stared at him and suddenly burst out laughing. "You funny old stick! What a wonderful novelist's mind you must have behind that legal facade! Do you really think that I married you as the price of saving Father from the wolves—or the Stewards of the Jockey Club etcetera?"

"You were very fond of your father, Frances."

"I was devoted to Daddy! He was terribly attractive and the greatest fun to live with! But I always knew he was a bad hat. And if you think that I'd sell myself to the family solicitor in order to save him from getting what was always coming to him, then you've never understood the first thing about me. Never!"

She stared at him. Extraordinary, she thought, to have seen married to someone for over twenty years and not have known what was going on in their minds. But how could one know when it was a mind so different from one's own? A romantic mind, of course, well camouflaged, but essentially romantic. She thought: "All those old Stanley Weymans in his bedroom. The poor idiotic darling!"

Aloud she said: "I married you because I was in love with you, of course."

"In love with me? But what could you see in me?"

"If you ask me that, Jeremy, I really don't know. You were such a change, so different from all Father's crowd. You never talked about horses for one thing. You've no idea how sick I was of horses—and what the odds were likely to be for the Newmarket Cup! You came to dinner one night—do you remember?—and I sat next to you and asked you what bismillah was, and you told me—really told me! It took the whole of dinner—six courses—we were in funds at the moment and had a French chef!"

"It must have been extremely boring," said Jeremy.

"It was fascinating! Nobody had ever treated me seriously before. And you were so polite and yet never seemed to look at me or think I was nice or good looking or anything. It put me on my mettle. I swore I'd make you notice me."

Jeremy Claude said grimly: "I noticed you all right. I went home that evening and didn't sleep a wink. You had a blue dress with cornflowers. . . ."

There was silence for a moment or two, then Jeremy cleared his throat.

"Er—all that is a long time ago. . . ."

She came quickly to the rescue of his embarrassment. "And we're now a middle-aged married couple in difficulties, looking for the best way out."

"After what you've just told me, Frances, it makes it a thousand times worse that this—this disgrace—"

She interrupted him. "Let us please get things clear. You are being apologetic because you've fallen foul of the law. You may be prosecuted—go to prison" (he winced) "I don't want that to happen. I'll fight like anyone to stop it, but don't credit me with moral indignation. We're not a moral family, remember. Father, in spite of his attractiveness, was a bit of a crook. And there was Charles—my cousin. They hustled it up and he wasn't prosecuted, and they hustled him off to the Colonies. And there was my cousin Gerald—he forged a check at Oxford. But he went to fight and got a posthumous V.C. for complete bravery and devotion to his men and superhuman endurance. What

ALL TRICKS NOT ALIKE
IF YOU THINK one trick is just as good as another you are wrong. In many deals, the deciding factor is which of two tricks you win. If you take one of them, you may find no helpful move instantly available to you. If, however, you let that trick go by and take a different trick later on you may be in position to make a move which will wreck the enemy—or which is just as good—one which will prevent him from wrecking you.

That is sound aggressive bidding by both North and South, justified by the fact that they were not up against the best defenders in the world. West was sound enough in restraining himself from doubling which would locate his two adverse honors for the declarer, and equally sound in selecting the diamond 9 for his opening lead, since East bid the suit. But then East fumbled the ball.

Hoping that West had led a singleton, East came in with his A on the opening trick and fired back the 5, which South won with the J. Now you follow through the rest of the play and see if you can find any way for South to lose any more tricks except two in spades to the A and Q. South had been right in estimating his opposition as none too formidable.

A better defensive player in the East would not have staked the entire fate of the pair's effort on the contingency that West had only one diamond. If he had treated the lead as if it was the

Some years ago left turns were prohibited at Court and Main street, but such a howl went up that the ban soon was lifted. Just one error there; both left and right turns should have been banned Saturday evenings from 6 until midnight. Pedestrians are finding increased danger in negotiating the crossings on our heaviest shopping nights and it is only a matter of time until some car jockey, who is unaware that the right-of-way rests with the pedestrian, will kill or seriously injure someone. And auto traffic is slowed to a crawl by cars seeking to make right or left turns. A "No Turn" sign supported by a policeman for a few Saturday nights would straighten out a snarl that is constantly increasing. The order should come from the mayor or council and in such case the police would cooperate willingly.

She interrupted him. "Let us please get things clear. You are being apologetic because you've fallen foul of the law. You may be prosecuted—go to prison!"

He winced. "I don't want that to happen. I'll fight like anyone to stop it, but don't credit me with moral indignation. We're not a moral family, remember. Father, in spite of his attractiveness, was a bit of a crook. And there was Charles—my cousin. They hustled it up and he wasn't prosecuted, and they hustled him off to the Colonies. And there was my cousin Gerald—he forged a check at Oxford. But he went to fight and got a posthumous V.C. for complete bravery and devotion to his men and superhuman endurance. What

Frances said: "At any rate we have been reasonably nice to her—not catty like Adela. She might respond."

Her husband said warningly: "There must be no hint of—er—the real urgency."

Frances said impatiently: "Of course not! The trouble is that it's not the girl herself we shall have to deal with. She's completely under the thumb of that brother of hers."

"A very unattractive young man," said Jeremy Cload.

Frances's sudden smile flashed out. "Oh no," she said. "He's attractive. Most attractive. Rather unscrupulous, too, I should imagine. But then as far as that goes, I'm unscrupulous too!"

He smiled hardened. She looked up at her husband.

"We're not going to be beaten, Jeremy," she said. "There's bound to be some way. . . . If I have to rob a bank!"

ALL TRICKS NOT ALIKE

IF YOU THINK one trick is just as good as another you are wrong. In many deals the deciding factor is which of two tricks you win. If you take one of them, you may find no helpful move instantly available to you. If however you let that trick go by and take a different trick later on you may by then be in position to make a move which will wreck the enemy or—which is just as good—one which will prevent him from wrecking you.

That is sound aggressive bidding by both North and South, justified by the fact that they were not up against the best defenders in the world. West was sound enough in restraining himself from doubling, which would locate his two adverse honors for the declarer, and equally sound in selecting the diamond 9 for his opening lead. Since East bid the suit. But then East fumbled the ball.

Hoping that West had led a singleton. East came in with his A on the opening trick and fired back the 5, which South won with the J. Now you follow through the rest of the play and see if you can find any way for South to lose any more tricks except two in spades to the A and Q. South had been right in estimating his opposition as none too formidable.

A better defensive player in the East would not have staked the entire fate of the pair's effort on the contingency that West had only one diamond. If he had treated the lead as if it was the Desiring to be in the lead after the second diamond trick, instead of the first, he should have put his Q on the dummy's 10 and kept his A. Then, when West won a trump trick and led his second diamond, East could have won with the A and returned a third diamond for West to ruff. That trick, with the insignificant 6 of spades, would have been the destroyer.

"My dear!" He got up and came over to her. He scooped up and put his lips to her hair.

"And now," said Lord Edward Trenton's daughter, smiling up at him, "what are we going to do? Raise money somehow?"

Jeremy's face stiffened. "I don't see how."

"A mortgage on this house. Oh I see," she was quick, "that's been done. I'm stupid. Of course you've done all the obvious things. It's a question, then, of a touch? Who can we touch? I suppose there's only one possibility. Gordon's widow—the dark Rosaleen!"

Jeremy shook his head dubiously. "It would have to be a large sum. And it can't come out of capital. The money's only in trust for her for her life."

"I hadn't realized that. I thought she had it absolutely. What happens when she dies?"

"It comes to Gordon's next of kin. That is to say it is divided between myself, Lionel, Adela, and Maurice's son, Rowley."

"It comes to us. . . ." said Frances slowly.

Something seemed to pass through the room—a cold air—the shadow of a thought. . . .

Frances said: "You didn't tell me. . . . I thought she got it for keeps—that she could leave it to anyone she liked?"

"No. By the statute relating to intestacy of 1925. . . ."

It is doubtful whether Frances listened to his explanation. She said when his voice stopped:

"It hardly matters to us personally. We'll be dead and buried, long before she's middle-aged. How old is she? Twenty-five—twenty-six? She'll probably live to be seventy."

Jeremy Cload said doubtfully: "We might ask her for a loan—putting it on family grounds? She may be a generous-minded girl—really we know so little of her."

Frances said: "At any rate we have been reasonably nice to her—not catty like Adela. She might respond."

Her husband said warningly: "There must be no hint of—er—the real urgency."

Wesley-Wed Class Has Family Picnic At Wolford Farm

Committees Named For Coming Year

Mr. and Mrs. Roliff Wolford extended the hospitality of their country home on Route 3 to members of Wesley-Wed class of First Methodist church for a family picnic Friday evening. Thirty-five persons were present for the outing. Frank Wantz, president, conducted a business meeting during the early evening hours.

Committees were appointed by the president for the coming year. Programs and activities were discussed. Dr. W. L. Sprouse spoke of the Sunday school lessons and their future presentations.

Watermelon Top Suggestion For Cool Menus

Watermelon, the traditional American dessert, will add to the menu, whether the occasion be a picnic or a formal meal. In hot weather a hostess is nearly always safe in serving watermelon to her guests at the beginning or ending of any summer meal.

Save the rind for pickling which can later be used for winter menus as an added delicacy. A recipe calls for, 7 lbs. prepared watermelon rind, 7 C. sugar, 2 C. vinegar, ½ tsp. oil cinnamon and ¼ tsp. oil of cloves.

Prepare rind by cutting in thin slices, peeling and removing all pink meat. Cut in one inch cubes. Put into large kettle. Cover with water and cook until tender, but not soft. Drain. Mix sugar, vinegar, and spice. Bring to a boil and pour over cooked rind. Let stand 24 hours. Drain. Bring syrup to a boil and again pour over rind. Let stand 24 hours. Bring rind and syrup to a boil and pour into hot sterilized jars and seal. Cool and store.

Tigers Score 9 Runs In 10th To Win Series

"Junior World Series" standings at Ted Lewis Park playground were evened up at two-all Friday when the Tigers posted an 18-9 win over the Giants.

The game went 10 innings before the Tigers registered its win, the score at the end of the regular game standing at 9-all.

After scoreless eighth and ninth innings, the Tigers posted nine runs in the tenth frame.

Roger Graham was the winning pitcher in the encounter, while Joe Hill was charged with the loss.

Big event of the Friday afternoon card at the playground was the bubblegum blowing contest.

Phyllis Brannon, Terry Barthelmas, Donna Bennington, Barbara Binkley, Ted Mogan and Dick Rhoads blew the biggest bubbles in the different age group competition.

EDDIE TOMLINSON copped the marbles tournament championship at the park Friday by defeating Johnnie Eshelman in the finals.

Roger Bennington beat Roy Huffer in the finals of the giant checkerboard

Tigers Score 9 Runs In 10th To Win Series

"Junior World Series" standings at Ted Lewis Park playground were evened up at two-all Friday when the Tigers posted an 18-9 win over the Giants.

The game went 10 innings before the Tigers registered its win, the score at the end of the regular game standing at 9-all.

After scoreless eighth and ninth innings, the Tigers posted nine runs in the tenth frame.

Roger Graham was the winning pitcher in the encounter, while Joe Hill was charged with the loss.

Big event of the Friday afternoon card at the playground was the bubblegum blowing contest.

Phyllis Brannon, Terry Barthelmas, Donna Bennington, Barbara Binkley, Ted Mogan and Dick Rhoads blew the biggest bubbles in the different age group competition.

EDDIE TOMLINSON copped the marbles tournament championship at the park Friday by defeating Johnnie Eshelman in the finals.

Jones Wins But Fails In Shutout

'Greatest Hurler' Yields Single

NEW YORK, July 31—Sheldon Jones, cocky rookie pitcher of the New York Giants, was a downhearted young man today, despite his 9 to 1 victory over the Chicago Cubs last night.

The Giants had not been scored upon in 28 innings. Three pitchers had turned in consecutive shutouts, so last night the issue was squarely up to Jones, who frankly admits he is the world's greatest pitcher.

Jonesy bore down all the way and would have made it four straight shutouts except for an unfortunate accident in the ninth inning. Two substitutes, Jack Conway and Les Layton, collided while chasing an easy fly. A run came in and Jonesy was robbed of his shutout with only one putout to go.

The third-place Giants are only half a game behind Brooklyn and but six games astern of the Boston Braves, National League leaders, who were stopped 6 to 2 by Harry Brecheen of the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cat had a no-hitter until the seventh inning.

FOUR HOMERUNS gave Pittsburgh a 10 to 5 decision over Brooklyn. Wally Westlake of the Bucs hit for the cycle—a homer, triple, double and single. Ralph Branca was the victim.

Andy Seminick, who has walloped six circuit clouts in five days, hit two homers to give the Phillies an 8 to 5 win over the Reds. Ewell Blackwell, ace right-hander of the Reds, suffered a recurrence of his shoulder injury and was removed to a hospital after the second inning.

In the American League, the pace-setting Boston Red Sox drew in the clear as all three of their closest pursuers lost. The Sox personally took care of Cleveland, 8 to 7.

Satchmo Paige, Negro star of the Indians, was nipped for the winning run on three singles in the seventh.

The New York Yankees lost to the tallied Chicago White Sox, 8 to 7, despite a grand-slam homer by Tommy Henrich.

Detroit's Tigers made each of their 17 hits good for a run as they clawed the Philadelphia Athletics, 17 to 2.

Three walks, forcing in a run in the ninth inning, gave Washington a 3 to 2 win over the St. Louis Browns.

Brownies Prep On Fundamentals

BOWLING GREEN, July 31—The Cleveland Browns stepped through their fifth day of practice here today with the emphasis on fundamentals.

When Coach Paul Brown arrived at the camp Sunday, he made his familiar opening speech.

"One of the things we do here is to teach the fundamentals of football all over again. We want you to work hard at them. We're only trying to improve your play," the Cleveland mentor said.

In sessions yesterday, the ends, tackles and guards surrounded Fritz Heisler, the Browns' guard coach, who lectured on the technicalities of line play and the proper way for linemen to pull out.

Kirk Is Easy Tourney Winner

TOLEDO, July 31—Peggy Kirk of Findlay stood alone unchallenged today as the Toledo area's top feminine golfer.

Playing par golf for 27 holes, Miss Kirk soundly trounced Mrs. John Horgan of Toledo, twice former state champion, 10 and 9, for the district golf crown yesterday at Sylvania Country Club.

Mrs. Horgan failed to win a hole in the abbreviated afternoon 18 as Miss Kirk scored her second straight district win.

Groundhogs To Open '48 Hunting Season; Squirrels Due Sept. 15

Groundhogs are to give Pickaway County nimrods their first hunting of the 1948-49 season, according to Clarence Francis, Pickaway County game protector.

Francis said Saturday the groundhog season will open Aug. 15 and continue until the animal hibernates. This was the first year a season has been imposed on hunters of the groundhogs, the state issuing the protectorate in order to provide refuges for game animals in winter.

Squirrels are to be the next target on the calendar, the bushy-tailed chatters to begin their hide-and-seek game with hunters Sept. 15.

The season is to continue until

Tournament of Champs Schedules Twin Title Bouts On Same Night

NEW YORK, July 31—The Tournament of Champions, Inc., with Andy Niederreiter as promoter, came out boldly today as a rival of the 20th Century Sporting Club for a hold on the boxing racket.

Announcement that the new organization will put on a mid-weight and light heavy-weight championship match on the same card on a date tentatively set one day behind the 20th Century's scheduled evening for a big outdoor match is a challenge.

Tripleheader Set For Park Here Sunday

A triple bill is slated for Ted Lewis Park Sunday afternoon, while three other county games are on the bill for the day.

First of the three features at the park is to be a softball game between Weavers of the City Kids League and the Pickaway County Children's Home. The Children's Home aggregation was trimmed at the park Wednesday 13-0 by a Ted Lewis Park All Star team.

Gametime for the junior fricas is set at 1:30 p. m.

The Circleville high school alumni team is to play host to Scioto Township grads following the junior fricas.

Circleville grads hold the league leadership in the Sunday Afternoon Alumni loop with an undefeated record, while all other teams in the loop have been defeated at least twice. Scioto Township has won but one of its league games this season.

A baseball tilt between the Circleville American Legion Junior aggregation and Boyds has been scheduled for the last of the Sunday afternoon events.

BOYDS, heretofore strictly a softball combine, is to convert style to baseball for the match. Pitching for the Boyd team is to be done by Bob Shaw, a Circleville high school hurler last season.

The Legion-Boyd game is to be played at 4:30 p. m.

Other games in the county will include two more Alumni League matches, Walnut at Pickaway and Monroe at Salt Creek, and the Ashville Reds are to host Jamestown in a South Central Ohio baseball League match at Community Park.

Brewer-Indian Series Lacking In Importance

By International News Service

A week ago, the Milwaukee-Indianapolis series opening today in the Hoosier capital loomed as one of the most important of the American Association season.

It was just another busy week-end for the two clubs now, however.

The resurgent Indians boosted their league advantage to six impressive games last night by defeating Columbus, 8 to 4, in the only Association game played.

It was the Tribes' seventh victory in its last eight games. Milwaukee, meanwhile, comes to Indianapolis with a string of eight straight defeats.

The Indians received seven-hit pitching from Jack Hallett last night to subdue Columbus.

Culp Is Facing Riegel In Test

LAKE FOREST, Ill., July 31—Jack Culp Jr., a relatively unknown Chicagoan, was the newest barrier in the path of Skee Riegel today as the latter moved to add the Great Lakes amateur gold championship to his national and western titles.

The 26-year-old Culp faced Riegel in one of four quarter-final matches which, along with two semi-finals, will be held today at Knollwood Country Club here. Finals are tomorrow.

already have matched Champion Tony Zale for a middle-weight title clash with Marcel Cerdan at 15 rounds and yesterday added an encore between Freddie Mills and Gus Lesnevich.

Mills won the light heavy crown from Lesnevich last Monday in London and will get back in there for 15 more rounds on Sept. 23. The date is subject to change.

PROMOTER Niederreiter revealed that this show is going to run to a gate-opening expenditure of close to $400,000, but he showed no obvious reluctance to going ahead with his plans. In fact he seems to relish the idea of bucking the 20th Century.

The 20th Century plans a heavyweight tournament, but this may not—and should not—produce an immediate successor to Joe Louis as champion.

If the 20th Century doesn't hold title to the heavyweight champion the man who does has the inside track on the boxing racket and it could be, eventually, the Tournament of Champions.

The main question involved in the new organization's plans is how much money it can afford to gamble.

The announcement said that Mills and Lesnevich will get a joint guarantee of $150,000 and that Zale and Cerdan will get close to that figure for their middleweight scuffle.

That, plus preliminaries, ball park rental—Ebbets Field is the site—and incidentals runs the venture into the stratosphere of finances.

Cleveland Bows To State; To Be In Cage Tourney

CEDAR POINT, July 31—Cleveland high schools will compete in state basketball tournaments this winter—or at the latest in 1950—after a long absence from state competitions.

The announcement came today from Athletic Commissioner H. M. Emswiler at Cedar Point where the Ohio High School Athletic Association is meeting.

Cleveland high schools dropped out of the tournaments after a dispute with the association over allowing top Cleveland teams to enter directly into state competition without regional play-offs.

Today Cleveland bowed to the athletic board and agreed to meet the requirements. It will mean that a local tournament must be held to select one team to represent Cleveland in the state games.

Movies Keeping Hogan Away

CHICAGO, July 31—Movie commitments will keep Ben Hogan, National Open and PGA champion, out of the $31,000 All-America golf tournament at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter club starting next Tuesday.

Spokesmen for the tournament said today that Hogan, however, is expected to show up a week from next Saturday to defend his world championship at a two-day tourney that immediately follows the 8th annual All-America Open, amateur and women's open.

Byron Nelson, who won four of the previous All-Americas, still is an uncertain starter.

My Request Given Nod In 'Jinxmaster'

CHICAGO, July 31—Six brassy three-year-olds rushed in where Citation failed to tread to contest that storied "jinxmaster," the $88,900 Arlington Classic today.

A crowd of 40,000 was expected to view the getaway day feature to 36 days of achievement and high finance at Ben Lindheimer's plant northwest of here.

The mantle of favorite fell to Ben Whitaker's likely colt. My Request when Citation was withdrawn because of a bad hip.

In 19 previous runnings the classic has proven most bimeing to popular choices. Bimelech, Whirlaway and Assault are three sample victims.

The jinx, such as it is, failed to move Arlington Park authorities, who saddled My Request with 126 pounds for the mile and a quarter race. The Whitaker performer shares the top weight with another likely candidate, Better Self, from the King Ranch Barns.

My Request Given Nod In 'Jinxmaster'

CHICAGO, July 31—Six brassy three-year-olds rushed in where Citation failed to tread to contest that storied "jinxmaster," the $88,900 Arlington Classic today.

A crowd of 40,000 was expected to view the getaway day feature to 36 days of achievement and high finance at Ben Lindheimer's plant northwest of here.

The mantle of favorite fell to Ben Whitaker's likely colt. My Request when Citation was withdrawn because of a bad hip.

In 19 previous runnings the classic has proven most annoying to popular choices. Bimelech, Whirlaway and Assault are three sample victims.

The jinx, such as it is, failed to move Arlington Park authorities, who saddled My Request with 126 pounds for the mile and a quarter race. The Whitaker performer shares the top weight with another likely candidate.

Ag Agent Warns Against Using Fertilizer As Crutch

Good Soil Practices Are Cited

Keeping Dirt Home Said Top Problem

Pickaway County farmers can stretch available fertilizer supplies and boost crop yields by using plant food more efficiently, according to Larry A. Best, county agricultural agent.

"Many farmers are using fertilizer as a crutch," Best points out. "They try to make it substitute for good management practices. Often they put fertilizer in the ground without making sure that the plant can send out its roots for the fertilizer."

"Fertilizer is vital in providing plant food nutrients and promoting sturdy crop growth. But fertilizer cannot do the whole job. It must be teamed up with other practices if you are going to build up soil structure and keep that soil in place after you have built it up."

"A good rotation reinforced by deep-rooted legumes and grasses is the heart of any program for building soil structure. Sweet clover and alfalfa add organic matter."

"THEIR TAP roots open tight soils by prying straight down 18 to 25 inches below the plow layer. Legumes make a thicker layer of good soil. The improved soil structure gives crop roots the space they need for gathering plant nutrients, water and oxygen."

"The success of building soil with grasses and legumes depends on how well they are fed. These crops need plenty of fertilizer carrying phosphate and potash. But getting thick, strong stands is not the whole story. Either. You can't cut all these crops to hay or graze them down to the surface and expect them to build the soil. You have to turn at least a part of these crops back to the soil." He adds:

"Once you build soil structure, you may need conservation measures to help you keep that soil home. Where needed, contour cultivation, strip cropping and terracing can give you that help."

Oh Yes, And $500 For Worry, Too

MARTINS FERRY, July 31 — Eva Sommers demanded reimbursement today for money she claimed her husband lost gambling in a Martins Ferry pool hall. She also asks for $500 for her worry.

Defendants in the court action were listed as John J. Snyder and John W. Fox. Mrs. Sommers contends husband Harold dropped $2500 in the pool hall, gambling.

County Records Show Rent Hikes

COLUMBUS, July 31 — A report to the Franklin County rent advisory board showed today that more than 20,000 tenants in Columbus and Franklin County controlled housing units had their rent raised in the year ending June 30.

Edward F. Wagner, area rent director, said about 476 additional rents were boosted during July. He said 128 thousand houses still remain under controls in the area.

Parole Officer Exams Booked

COLUMBUS, July 31 — The State Civil Service Commission announced today that it would give examinations for the position of parole officer Aug. 20 in Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati, Toledo and Dayton.

The announcement followed a recommendation by Governor Herbert that seven parole officers be added to the bureau of probation and parole.

All applications for the examination must be filed with the commission by Aug. 17. The job pays a base salary of $200 to $250 per month, plus legislative increases.

12 Tokyo Crews Going To Berlin

TOKYO, July 31 — Twelve bomber and transport crews were given emergency orders today to leave by air next Wednesday for Germany, presumably to help fly food to Berlin.

More than 100 of the flyers were called from parties, theatres or their homes in the Tokyo area last night and put on a 24-hour alert in case the date for their takeoff from Haneda airfield is advanced.

The crew members were informed they probably would be away from Tokyo for three months.

Chamber Stages Drive On Snakes

WHITE SALMON, Wash. — Shades of the wild west! The White Salmon-Bingen Chamber of Commerce recently staged a war on rattlesnakes in Jewett Creek canyon.

The chamber sealed off the main rattlesnake den and used tempting morsels of murtatic acid and cyanide to rid the area of an unwanted scenic attraction.

NAM Chief Pooh-Poos Price Curbs

Huge Black Market Said Inevitable

NEW YORK, July 31 — President Morris Sayre of the National Association of Manufacturers declared that the return of price control is no answer to inflation.

The NAM chief declared that the only solution to curb spiraling prices is greater and more efficient production.

Addressing the 31st annual convention of the Lions International here, Sayre said that a return to controls would "create a black market which would make our last one seem lily-white in contrast."

Sayre told delegates that higher wages are not the answer to inflation and not reduced profits, which already are too low to attract the savings necessary to finance lower cost production. He added:

"Production to satisfy demand is the only way to stop the spiral. And increased productivity, output per worker, is the only way to increase wages, to lower prices and provide the better tomorrows."

"The key to this log-jam is to eliminate unnecessary government spending and reduce our highly progressive income tax so that people can again save and invest."

THE NAM president said that the country needs—both industry and the people—economic education and sound thinking of these problems at the grass roots levels.

Sayre added: "Without swollen purchasing power, aid to Europe and our defense program it is easy to see what is exerting too great a demand on available supply."

Business Hums With Price Cut

WEST NEWTON, Pa., July 31 — A West Newton butcher picked a good way to start things humming.

Business boomed when George Sweeney, proprietor of West Newton's largest meat market, put weiners on sale at 12½ cents per pound because he "just wanted to stir things up."

Weiners are currently priced at 59 cents a pound and up in West Newton.

Big Walnut Span Contract Let For $470,697

Relocation contract for the Route 23 bridge over Big Walnut Creek in Franklin County has been awarded to John Hill Mansfield on a bid of $470,697, the state highway department disclosed.

Division Engineer Robert Werner said the bridge work will be part of the 1.6-mile project by the state to eliminate hazardous curves approaching the new structure.

The present bridge which was built in 1893 has been declared a "weak link" in one of Ohio's main north-south transportation arteries linking terminals of Toledo, Cleveland, Columbus with Portsmouth, Waverly and Cincinnati.

While no date has been set for work to begin, it was announced the highway department is anxious to have the project completed as rapidly as possible.

Slavs Nominate New Committee

BELGRADE, July 30 — An enlarged central committee took over leadership of the Communist Party in Yugoslavia today.

At the head of the central committee, which was expanded from 29 to 63 members, were Premier Marshal Tito and all the Yugoslav leaders previously denounced by the Communist Information Bureau.

The committee was named by the Fifth Yugoslav Communist Congress which throughout its sessions has breathed defiance of the Cominform criticism.

UN Mediator Planning Tour

LAKE SUCCESS, July 31 — Count Folke Bernadotte announced today that he will begin a tour of Arab capitals and Israel Sunday to sound out basis principles of a Palestine peace plan.

The mediator gave United Nations officials no hint of the nature of the new blueprint for solving the Holy Land dispute.

According to present plans, the peace tour will last a week. Immediately afterwards the mediator plans to proceed to his native Sweden to take part in a meeting of the International Red Cross.

GOP IS STEADILY SILENT

Army Staff Chief Adds To Segregation Confusion

WASHINGTON, July 31 — If anything further were needed to establish the confused condition of things political this Summer, the early reaction to President Truman's executive order on "equality of treatment and opportunity in the armed services" should supply it.

For the most part, the Republicans remained studiously silent. Chief squawks came from the President's own party—the Southern Democrats, that is, although many of those who protested could not be called Dixiecrats by the Birmingham rule-of-thumb.

Much to the surprise of those who know him best, even the Army's chief of staff came up with a few somewhat unexpected remarks on the subject.

In querying congressmen on the executive order, it soon became apparent that—just to confuse things further—many of them misunderstood the order itself, assuming that it abolished segregation in the armed services.

Actually, it did no such thing, although it might be interpreted as working toward that end. What it did, as specified in the first point of the order, was to state that "there shall be equality of treatment and opportunity for all persons in the armed services without regard to race, color, religion or national origin."

While the Republicans, for the most part, elected to remain smilingly silent on the question of the executive order, a good many Democrats were explosively outspoken.

Veteran Legislator Ed Gossett

segregation is being practiced between races."

Brooks said that the "armed forces at best have a very hard job in the handling of the race question," and added that he feared the result of the President's order might be to "seriously cripple and impair" the nation's military strength.

Equally outspoken was another Louisiana congressman, Leonard Allen, who charged that the President had been needed in the action by "Henry Wallace and his gang."

Allen insisted that the "effort to wipe out racial segregation in the armed services" was aimed specifically at the South—"just like the whole so-called civil rights program."

SPECIFICALLY, he expressed anger at the President for "resorting to his executive powers" after being unable to get Congress to pass civil rights legislation.

Any question as to the exact import of the President's executive order actually should have been cleared up the day after it was issued when General Omar Bradley, the Army chief of staff, said flatly that the Army would continue racial segregation as long as the nation does.

Were the order to be interpreted as abolishing segregation, Bradley's stand could be considered nothing more than a flagrant—and unprecedented—case of insubordination. Needless to say, the general is not that type of soldier.

Nevertheless, the strong language of his statement, coming on the heels of an executive order which at least seemed to point toward non-segregation, admittedly raised a lot of eyebrows around town—and added somewhat to the general confusion.

Relatives of Navy or other U. S. military personnel who died during World War II have only until Jan. 1, 1949, to file a claim for abatement of income taxes paid by the serviceman during the war.
